Incomplete, mended and restored. Preserved a little under one half of hemispherical bowl giving complete profile. One nonjoining rim fragment Dots or longer strokes on rim edge. Rim border: tangent, horizontal crosshatched lozenges bordered above and below by two (or indifferently three) very carelessly executed rim stripes. Body divided into segments by 6 groups of four vertical lines converging but not meeting on the bottom In the segments thus formed is a small cross-hatched square just under the rim lines, this enclosed as it were between two obliquely pendant rows of dots, inclining toward each other but not quite meeting, thus not closing the triangle they seem to be forming. (In one case they do meet)
